Rooted in a family of poets and artists, Bozorgi's artistic vision is deeply influenced by classical Persian literature, especially the works of Hafez, Saadi, and Rumi.

His paintings explore the intersection of poetry, Persian miniature, and traditional aesthetics. Through extensive research on Kufic script, he developed a contemporary approach to calligraphy-painting, combining ancient forms with Iranian color harmony and composition.

His artistic philosophy is grounded in spirituality, classical literature, and the visual heritage of Iran, aiming to revive
